

Aizawa Marin

Druid / Acolyte / High school diver

This packet helps you remember what you can do and which numbers to add during play. If a number differs from your character sheet, use the sheet.

TABLE ROLE

Nature Sense and Support

Read changes in nature and the body, shape the field, and heal when needed.

First: Who Am I?

Public Face

Marin is a local high school student who helps with her father's diving instruction on weekends. Her relationship with the sea is not just light admiration. It is discipline, caution, and respect.

For her, the sea is not a playground first. It is something to face properly.

Recent Events

During a dive, the sea suddenly felt different. Pressure, sound, buoyancy, and the feeling of her own body were wrong.

It did not feel exactly like the sea dragged her down. It felt more like the sea accepted her too completely. After her father pulled her back, land felt strangely heavy.

NPCs and Relationships

Person	Reminder
Father	A diving instructor and the person who taught Marin how to approach the sea.
Friend teaching at Zushi Beach	Relates to the sea in a lighter, freer, more stylish way. Marin feels a little jealous of that freedom.
The sea	Something she respects. Recently, it feels like it is responding to her as more than nature.

Places and Clues

- Her father's diving class
- The Hayama sea
- Zushi Beach
- The underwater place where sound and weight changed

Roleplay Anchors

- She views the sea through both respect and fear.
- She feels jealousy and unease toward people who relate to the sea freely.
- She is unsure whether she can trust her altered body-sense.

Next: What Can I Do?

Max HP	PB	Spell DC	Spell Atk	Slots	Conc. Save
9	+2	13	+5	1st x2	+1

Ability	STR	DEX	CON	INT	WIS	CHA
Modifier	-1	+0	+1	+0	+3	+0
Save	-1	+0	+1	+2	+5	+0

INT and WIS saves are this class's saving throw proficiencies. Ability modifiers are the base numbers for skills, attacks, saves, and many other rolls.

Combat Turn Basics

Action

Your main thing on your turn. Common actions include Attack, Cast a Spell, Dash, Disengage, Dodge, Help, Hide, Search, and Use an Object.

Bonus Action

You can use this only when a feature or spell says "Bonus Action." It is not a free extra action every turn. If you have several options, usually choose one.

Movement

You can move up to your speed. Movement is separate from your action. You can split it up: move, act, then move again.

Reaction

A response to a trigger, often outside your turn. You usually get one reaction per round. Opportunity attacks and some spells or features use this.

Common Actions

Action	What It Does
Dash	Gain extra movement for this turn. Use it to close distance, flee, or reach cover.
Disengage	Your movement this turn does not provoke opportunity attacks. Use it to leave melee safely.
Dodge	Focus on defense until the start of your next turn. Attacks from enemies you can see are harder to hit, and Dexterity saves have advantage.
Help	Help an ally. If the situation fits, their next ability check or attack can have advantage.
Hide	Try to hide. The DM decides if hiding is possible; usually roll Dexterity (Stealth).
Search	Look carefully, investigate, or notice something. Usually uses Wisdom (Perception) or Intelligence (Investigation).
Use an Object	Use a door, lever, tool, potion, or important item. Magic items may have their own rules.

Roll Basics

Proficiency Bonus (PB)

Proficiency means you are trained or practiced with something. At level 1, PB is usually +2. Add it only when you are proficient with the skill, save, weapon, tool, spell attack, or spell save DC involved. Do not add PB more than once to the same roll. When unsure, use checked or circled items on the sheet, or the already calculated attack and spell numbers.

Attack Roll

To see if an attack hits, roll d20 + attack bonus. If the total is at least the target's AC, it hits. Weapon attacks usually add the ability modifier plus proficiency bonus if proficient.

Spell Attack Roll

If a spell says "spell attack," you roll d20 + spell attack bonus. If the total is at least the target's AC, it hits.

Saving Throw

A defensive roll to avoid or endure danger. If the DM calls for a Dexterity save, for example, roll d20 and add the bonus from that save line.

Spell Save DC

If a spell says the target makes a save, the caster does not roll to hit. The target rolls and tries to meet or beat your spell save DC.

Aizawa Marin's Numbers

- Spell attack: d20 + 5. That is proficiency bonus +2 plus Wisdom modifier +3.
- Spell save DC: 13. That is 8 + proficiency bonus +2 + Wisdom modifier +3.
- Concentration saves are usually Constitution saves, so Marin rolls +1.

How To Play A Druid

Marin is a druid who reads changes in nature, bodies, weather, animals, and places. In combat she does not only deal damage. She changes terrain and conditions so allies can act.

Druidic

You have the secret language of druids and a strong bond to the natural world. Under the 2024 rules, Speak with Animals is always prepared through Druidic.

Prepared Spells

After a long rest, druids can change prepared spells of 1st level or higher. You can adjust for the next day's plan or investigation.

If You Are Unsure In Combat

1. Decide whether it is better to stop enemies or help allies.
2. If you must fight up close, use Shillelagh.
3. If an ally is down or close to danger, consider Healing Word or Cure Wounds.
4. If the scene involves nature, the sea, animals, or weather, ask what your druid senses notice.

Marin's Spells and Preparation Options

Druidcraft

CANTRIP

Action. Create a small natural sign or sensory effect. You can predict nearby weather or make a flower bloom.

No damage. Useful for checking weather, plants, fire, sea signs, and subtle natural changes.

Shillelagh

CANTRIP

Bonus action. Enchant a club or quarterstaff so you can attack with Wisdom.

Melee option. Lets Marin use her +3 Wisdom and usually improves the weapon's damage die.

Speak with Animals

ALWAYS / R

Speak with Beasts. Under the 2024 rules, Druidic keeps this always prepared.

Animals answer from animal priorities: smell, sound, danger, food, territory, and instinct.

Healing Word

OPTION / BA

Bonus action. Heal one creature in range for 2d4 + your Wisdom modifier.

Good for getting a downed ally up from a distance. Confirm whether it is prepared today.

Entangle

OPTION / CONC.

Action. Grasping plants or force fill an area. Creatures make Strength saves or become Restrained.

Stops enemies and helps allies hit them. Requires concentration.

Goodberry

OPTION

Action. Create magical berries. Each restores 1 HP and provides a day's nourishment.

Better for post-fight recovery and survival than emergency combat healing.

Questions You Can Ask During Play

- Is this natural phenomenon normal?
- Can I speak with animals or sea life here?
- Does this spell require concentration?
- After a long rest, can I prepare this spell instead?
